THE novelty of witnessing the Only American Indian Actress Go-Won-Go Mohawk in her picturesque sensational drama Wep-Ton-No-Mah, The Indian Mail Carrier, whose services the management of the opera house has been fortunate to secure for Tuesday, December 12th is without any doubt an extraordinary attraction. Miss Mohawk, who is regarded as being the only Indian Actress on the stage, is a descendant of Red Jacket. She belongs to the "Six Nations." Her father was Dr. Allen Mohawk, known to all Americans as that once famous Medicine Man. Her play is true to life, realistic and picturesque, and admirably staged.
