

Mary Murdock Mason divides her sex into three classes, the giddy butterflies, the busy bees and the woman's righters. The first are pretty and silly, the second plain and useful, the third mannish and odious. The first wear long trailing dresses and smile at you while waltzing; the second wear aprons and give you apple dumplings; and the third want your manly prerogatives, your dress coat, your money and your vote.