LADY ON THE SCENE

PROFILE

This month we are featuring the ladies who perform in the magical movie treat of the summer WigStock: The movie. A glitz gag party presented to one and all by the charming Lady Bunny. Barry Shilis did a wonderful job directing and the entire cast out does themselves. I and my date, Katie, attended the cast party at Tommy Tang's and the premiere held at the Directors Guild in Hollywood. We had a wonderful time and the film is a delight. Thanks to Samuel Golywn Company and the folks at ALPA AIDS Project Los Angeles for making it possible for me to attend these events.

Yes, we have the wonderful and charming Lady Bunny on the cover of Epic. We have local ladies: Jackie Beat and Alexis Acquette featured also. All three are in the new film out by director Barry Shilis. I have been hearing about and reading stories on the Labor Day faux hair party that Lady Bunny started ten years ago in Thomkins Square. I was thrilled and maybe my panties were buching a little as I hit that lovely Hollywood Exits sign gunning it up the 101. I do not and never will deny the fact that I have special calling to that "City of Lights." I thought about the film industry and show business. I had a good feeling that we as a community were finally going to get a fair shake. Well, we got it and more.

The movie is very special and I feel like if I can convince you to go see it that you will agree with me. I found that the people who Katie and I met were most gracious and charming. We both talked with Barry Shills, Lady Bunny, Debbie Mazar and a number of other celebrities. I wonder how many of you would have a valet park your car and then traipse on into to a Hollywood movie premiere. I never thought I would be doing it and I am sure Katie never dreamed of doing fun things like this. Yet, there we were with other members of the local gender community.

Well, I can really see where the Woodstock generation has gone: to embrace family values and ideas that present a challenge to free speech and the freedom of the press. I can see that this is the age of the media and at this time our community is finding itself being looked at from every angle with binoculars, telescopes, and magnifying glasses. A film like Wigstock: The Movie is going to make this summer a very interesting and I might add "Hairy" one. Do check out the local theaters and see this one.

The first Annual faux-hair party extravaganza I am presenting is on the first Saturday of the month in the Front Show Room at the Queen Mary, in Studio City. Hopefully you have time to plan on attending or you did! I am excited about this and myself and many others have been working to put together an exciting night of entertainment. I never dreamed in a zillion years that I would be doing events such as those one. I recall the first fetish contest we had in the back bar. It was an SRO crowd and considering it was the first one it was a success with all having a great fun time. I find great joy and satisfaction from bringing together members of our community. Whether it is a dance party and dinner in Long Beach, or a fetish fiasco on stage at the club. I find that most appreciate and enjoy

with Marlayna Lacie

attending. I recall at the last contest Melisa and I were on stage and we had a problem as all the contestants were not ready. I said to the audience, "This event is put together by "throw Together Production Company." A few laughed, but most understood what I was saying and waited patiently. This is not vaudeville and it is not the $60.00 a ticket to the theater on Broadway or Las Vegas. I put together these events because I like to and most of all it gives a center and focus to a many. The scene is one hell of a lot more than getting dolled up and leaving a seat at a motel room for one at a bar.

We have many creative and talented people in the local area and I find it does not take but asking once to get them to join in. We are fortunate to have a club like the Queen Mary and many out of towners are envious. People travel far and wide to this "Mecca of Crossdressing." I am fortunate and proud to be part of the Queen Mary family. It is very much my home away from. The place you live and dwell is called home and that they say is where your heart is. My heart and soul are spread among this publication, the Queen Mary Show Lounge and my community. I want to thank all who have attended these parties and events. Thank you for buying this publication and you always have an open invitation to come to the club. All know that on the 2nd and 4th Saturday I will be there and I will look forward to meeting you. Isn't that what a party is all about, meeting good friends, old and new.

Today I got a call from Sam who is the manager at Fantasy Lingerie Boutique. A representative for the Jenny Jones Show was looking for cross dressers to appear on the show. I told Sam to tell the lady that I was only interested in doing a show that had gender education as the focus and theme. Sam said she would explain my position about doing shows and get back to me. Well the call never came and I am not flustered or concerned as I made a vow long ago that no matter how "high profile" I became that I would not be fodder for the game show marketing machine. I feel that many of these programs do not do anything positive other than titillate and rub people's noses in their own private life trauma. Which for some reason I cannot fathom! Is it the free trip to Chicago or New York that is the draw? Is it having one's 15 minutes of fame? Whatever that is! Why would anyone dress up "en-femme" and go on national television to be trashed is beyond me. I will most likely get more calls from people who book victims, excuse me guests for television talk shows. Drag is in and the public's appetite for men in heels must be met.

I would look forward to being on a program with say, people like: Virginia Prince, Jo Ann Roberts, Dee Dee Summers, Dee Grady, and maybe even Kym Richards so we can have a public cat fight. Only kidding about Ms. Richards but it seems to me that I can not recall ever seeing one good show featuring people from the transgendered community. No, I take that back as Maury Povich did a cover story on a community wedding about three years back and it was done tastefully. Friends of mine were in attendance and all had nice things to say about Maury and the staff and crew. That was then and this is now and one man who did not think twice about going on a talk show is in his grave and another man in jail. I am not going to get into who is really at fault here and who is the victim or the wrongdoer. I do feel that the people who think up the explosive and rating scoring ploys that they are really doing. Again people and members of our community should really think twice about accepting an invitation to be on national television.

I have mentioned more than once that I feel it is very important to set goals in one's life. Starting from let's say getting through an hour a day at work. Setting a goal to save enough to attend an event like Dressed to Thrill or California Dreamin. Looking further and setting your sights on doing something special in your life. Years ago I set a goal to contribute so much to my community that someday people would say, "Marlayna was one person who made an impact and a difference on the local scene. I wanted to be a writer for so long that it took me three years to look in the mirror and say, "Hey, you did it and I look down at three ring binders holding TV Epic. I see seven years of writing to you and living out my dream.

I started this column in 1989 and I had no idea what writing a column was all about. Two years later a friend with well intentions told me this: "You should take a journalism course and find a formula for your column." I was very uncomfortable with this as many times people have explained their actions to me with this line, "I had the best of intentions when I did this or that." My reply many times has been, "Well my dear friend, the road to hell is paved with the best of intentions!" Yes, my friend was trying to give me good advice yet I felt a formula would not work for me. I love stories and I read so many books growing up. I found that in many ways I am a story teller and a bit of a gossip. Which is fine as it gives me wood to burn over the keys I pound.

I have the series that Ken Burns did on the Civil war and in many sequences he reads letters that were written by soldiers and the families in that great war. These letters when read are true poetry in every sense of the word. Thoughts and feeling from the heart with no formula to guide them.

I set a goal to write as my heart told me to and in many ways these by lines are just cover pages for my personal letters to you. I crossdress and it is something that I did since I first hit my sisters room at seven. I knew it then as I know it now and so do most of you. Yes, you and I even though we may never meet or talk on the phone are bonded to each other. We belong to the same tribe and like the American Indians we live in different territories under different flags. One can look upon the big crossdressing conventions as tribal get togethers. They use to call them Pow Wows and I think that I feel my role is one as a messenger. One who uses the pen and paper to spread the word as they say and to also put out a beacon in the night. I can not come to the coast in a boat, or sit in a car across the street in a park near your house and hold up a beacon or light. I can write you a letter that well hopefully help you with some important information and also spiritually uplift you. I set a goal six years ago to become the best letter writer I could because my letters to you have become one of the most special things in my life. Well, my friends I am going to try another shot at putting together a little social event.

Here it is ladies, starting this month I will be throwing an event I will call, Tuesday "Tea" party presented by yours truly. It will be an evening of drag dinner & dancing and I ask all to celebrate the evening with a cup of tea. I come from England and I thought the tea theme would be a fun little touch. So we shall be starting off the first dinner as a warm for the following WIGFEST '95 event. Yes, we shall have a party for all who care to attend. I am getting more excited about the more I write about it.

I had a wonderful time at the Tuesday night dinner at Tommy Tang's. Thanks to Sandi Tang for inviting me and my guest Katie. I had a chance to sit down and chat with Sandi and she told me that earlier in the year she went to the infamous "Lucky Changes" in New York. The first eatery to have the staff dress en-femme on a special night. These Asian fellows make beautiful, sometimes stunning looking women and are very popular.

Needless to say a classy restaurant with great food, good service, music and sexy looking waiters is a great combination.

Dealing with Coming Out
by Marlayna Lacie

I was excited about the idea of attending the premiere of WIGSTOCK: The Movie, so I called friends to tell them about the affair. One good friend hit me with something that, gave me pause as the saying goes. Her reply to me was, "You know it seems that you only call about going out when you have a party or to get a bunch of photos." Then she added, "I think you are missing the FUN in your agenda."

I have been thinking about this and I find that at this point I still do not see the "writing on the wall" clearly.

I do know that I have changed and grown since 1988 and hopefully you have too. Are you the same exact person you were three years ago. Has time and experience changed your views, opinions, and outlook on life? I am happier in my life than I ever have been. I have found a career through my lifestyle. The bottom line for me at this point is that I enjoy writing for the people in the community that I belong to. Because I am a writer and have that high profile, I realize that many of you see me in a different light. One with camera and action and I love very minute of it. I look and see my walls that have photos of me with celebrities and in many cities around the country. How can someone tell me that I am missing the fun? Maybe they think that because I am not at the club on a Thursday night and only for a party that I am missing something.

I could be out tonight but I am looking forward to the Fantasy Fashion party this weekend. Mistress Sondra Ray is coming in from Reno to attend so she can join us and have some fun. I feel like hitting the dictionary to look up the word but I am glued to the keys and on a roll. Fun has to be different things to different people and yes, one persons pain can be another persons pleasure. I am still dealing with the comment from my friend and I will keep venturing through that nebulous dark hole of wonder. I wonder if this was said because I am not doing the same things I used to. Maybe by me not being there with that person that the perception is I have lost the spirit and impulse of the good time. I do not think so as I now find greater joy and purpose when I go out. My feeling right now is that the answer is that at this point my agenda is different from my friends. I can not and will not feel guilty about this as I shouldn't. The last time my friend called and asked me, "What are you doing?" My reply was, "I am working on my agenda." I love what I am doing and I plan to keep on going. I care about my friend and how she feels yet I see a little of what they call "guilt tripping" behind it. I do not feel guilty about what I do for a career or what I do for fun. I realize that I have changed and dealing with the many issues that goes along with these changes comes with life and the territory.

by Marlayna Lacie

Once again my territory is at the keyboard where I find happiness in writing these letters to you. They call it a column but to me these are really special letters to you. This one is a favorite because we all are in this together and we all find ourselves in one way or another, dealing with coming out.

I usually leave my apartment way after the sun sets but this evening was different. I called in reservations at the trendy Atlas Bar and Grill located at 3760 Wilshire Blvd in LA. Not far from Hollywood it is an upscale meeting place and watering hole for people in show business. I had picked up a flyer at the premiere WIGSTOCK: The Movie advertising a show featuring Joey Arias. I had spoken to Joey earlier in the week and had arranged an interview with him between shows. The valet took my keys and I just happened to notice that it was 8:00 pm on the dot, perfect timing. I checked in with the maitre de and was seated. I told him that I was a friend of Joey's and that he was expecting me. I also added that I was planning on writing about the club and the show. A minute later a charming fellow named Johnny Tamayo came over and introduced himself. He is the manager and had come over to give me a little information for my story. He was most helpful and I have to mention that the Atlas has an "open door" policy as far as our community is concerned. Johnny mentioned that they plan to book more "drag" acts in the future. The Atlas is a place to dress up in your finest haute couture evening dress and show it all off. A stylish cabaret dinner theater that has everything one could ask for. Great food with a electric "Global Cuisine" and top rate service and entertainment.. A few minutes after the show started, Johnny came up and with him was a young lady. Mary worked for a major wine company and asked Johnny for a seat that was close to the stage. He asked if Mary could join me. Since my date Katie had not arrived I told Mary to have a seat. We were soon chatting and enjoying the show. During our conversation she asked if I dressed all the time and I told her no. She assumed I was a transsexual! Mary then mentioned that she did NOT see any other crossdressers in the audience. The club holds 175 people and the only men in dresses that I could see where myself, Joey Arias, and his partner Raven O. Well I was starting to do my "dealing with coming out" thing. Here I am in a club in LA and I am the only man in the audience for this show dressed EN-FEMME.

I found that I was comfortable and relaxed and no one around me seemed bothered by the fact that sitting next to or near them was a man in drag. The fact being that they had paid to see a man sing and perform in DRAG on stage. If there was a snicker or comment made I did not hear it and it was not said in my direction. Most people returned my smiles and I got more than a few compliments from men and women during the evening. I did see Joey between numbers and I did get that interview and photos. I also found that on this evening when I attended a show at a public place that I was able to enjoy myself 100 % yet I still found myself dealing with coming out.

ARE YOU SURPRISED This petite glamorous senorita is not what she seems. I am straight acting Latin male by day, could you guess? I enjoy slipping into feminine attire for my own pleasant diversions. Tv Screen & Stage

It is way past midnight and I just have to write about the wonderful experience I had a few hours earlier. I attended the premiere of "WIGSTOCK: The Movie" and I have a glowing, hair raising report. I will start right off by congratulating director Barry Shils for doing a magnificent job. Two years in the making with lots of work from many dedicated people. I am so happy that we finally have a movie that is real and presents a joyous positive image of the transgendered community. I loved every minute of it and so did the audience. The event was a benefit for A.P.L.A., AIDS Project Los Angeles. It would not have happened but for the support of the Samuel Goldwyn Company. They will get a letter from me thanking them for supporting Barry, Miss Bunny, and making this dream a reality.

I like many, know that any film or stage show starts out as a vision and an idea. It is obvious that WigStock: The Movie is a labor of love for all in the film. Sizzling, non-stop performances by super model "Disco Diva Ru Paul," funky club music trend setters DEE-Lite. Joey Arias is a sight to behold as he hypnotizes us with his "Chennelling Billy Holiday" number. Mistress Fornika just blows the stage away with her great numbers. I find myself thinking faster than I can put out the words. What an exciting movie! You have to see it and you will find yourself in a daze after. John Kelly does his mystical impersonation of Joni Mitchell and mesmerizing is the word that hits me.

What can I say about Lady Bunny that hasn't been said before. Ten years ago she and a few of the gals she was running with grab some milk cartons and set up a small stage at a local park. WIGSTOCK started and Miss Bunny's wonderful idea has brought great pleasure and joy to many. This is everybody's movie and it is a true celebration of life liberty and the pursuit of happiness and BIG HAIR. I recall that a few years ago I was wary of the major studios. Feeling that they would use our community to reap in big profits. So far there have not been any negative movies that I am aware of. WIGSTOCK: The Movie will be a classic and I usually give my final review at the end of the piece but this time I will tell, you up front. TEN HIGH HEELS for this one with a big high hair MUST SEE and SEE AGAIN. Don't wait for the video as it is best to see this one on the big screen.

A joy to see so many talented ladies just knocking the bra straps off the crowd. Local LA drag diva "Jackie Beat" will amaze you.

Her shock rap attack works on every level. Picking you up and throwing you in and out of her frenetic world. The movie is one big glittery drag party and the fun is non stop. RuPaul is fantastic and comes across as a priestess of gender liberation. The magical satire of Lypsinka (John Epperson) is a treat and I plan to see the show next time she is in LA. Forgot to mention that Joey Arias dresses up in a kabuki costume looking like the last empress of China. Mind bending to see him perform and I will have a little note about Joey at the end of this column. Barry Shils has a laid back style that makes you feel like you are there. Part concert film, part documentary, it is a treat for all who see it. It captures all the fun and excitement of the event that started in Thomkins Square in the East Village in 1984. Now hit with the high energy of downtown Manhattan and all the spectacular performers never mind the finery and feathered crowd.

There is no attempt to make it a gender Ed movie and there is never any of the typical, "Why do you men do this?" BS that most drag documentaries contain. We finally have a great movie done with class, taste, and style and I am very happy and proud to be part of the transgendered community. We men who dress as women have been the pun too many times on stage and in film. Too many times a man in a dress is portrayed as twisted or deranged with homicidal tendencies. I never planned to give a movie a 10, maybe a 9 1/2 but "WIGSTOCK: The MOVIE" gets ten high heels and every pair in the fetish heel catalogue to boot.

Last year I head about Joey Arias and his fantastic show that he does at the Lafayette Hotel in NY. I wrote to Joey and we talked on the phone a few times. He was going to send me a photo package and some material but he never got around to it. At that time his career was taking off big time. He was being booked in clubs all across the country and also was doing some commercials for Chanel. Needless to say I was thrilled to meet Joey and seeing him perform live at the premiere was a big treat. Joey gave me his number where he is staying in Hollywood so we could chat. When I called, he had flown to San Francisco but left word that he will call Tuesday when he returns. I have an "interview" and photo shoot lined up with Joey. Wednesday night he is appearing with a big band at the Atlas Bar and Grill in Los Angeles. In between shows the plan is for us to get together. Needless to say I am very excited about this as I feel that men like Joey present that OH so special positive image that our community needs. If things go well I will be featuring photo spreads with top drag performers like Joey Arias, Lypsinka, Jackie Beat, Alexis Arquette, and many other "ladies" who are performing on tv screen and stage.

Saturday afternoon., June 10th, it is almost three in the afternoon and I just finished cutting up the ham and "cheese" for the party tonight. After six years it has become a routine yet every party has been exciting and special. Time waits on no one and the evenings are flying by. I used to call myself a "party girl" but in the last few days I do not relate to that. At the premiere I met the charming Bobbi Trendy who is part of the drag glam ladies who go to drag strip 66. I found that I really enjoyed meeting these new friends. During the conversation Bobbi said to the crowd, "Well I am just a party whore." This line really hit me as it was such an intriguingly perceptive way to announce one's lifestyle. I then thought that if Bobbi is the reigning queen of the party girls then where have I gone. Where does my name sit? Under a title or category? I want to know so I can exclaim so freely like Bobbi does. I feel that the closest description is to call myself a "Media whore." Why not? I can add that all along the watchtower they will whisper what they will.

TABLEAU VIVANT

TABLEAU VIVANT

By - Miss Tasha LaBlush

By way of introducing this sparkling new, virginal column to you:

I want to go on taking to you as freely and intimately about what we live and die for as if I knew you better than anyone whom you know."

Tennessee Williams, 1955.

Lofty aspirations for a cross-dressing column? You bet.

Why not? I'm proud to revel in the same scene as you, dear reader.

Maybe together, we'll share some intimate thoughts about what propels us alone this path we've chosen. Although, it may seem at times the "pink path" chose us, instead! Ha! Yes, laugh. In copious quantities...

Why the name Tableau Vivant? Two reasons: A penchant for French

(that kind too) and because it fits. If you've ever thought that TV should stand for something other than transvestite (or television), then

throw a lip over this...Tableau Vivant - a living picture, the representation of some scene by groups of persons. Hopefully, you'll agree the hat fits.

The cross-dressing scene is vast and vibrant. A friend in Manhattan once told me, "You can't swing a purse in New York without hitting a cross-dresser!" Here in LA and Orange County, you just need a purse with longer straps, that's all.

We'll talk about friends in the cross-dressing scene, parties, happenings, juicy gossip (no real names used) and once in awhile you'll hear from my pervy cousin, Tunni Sexx, and her sexescapades in bizarre and kinky fetish drag fun! Never, ever will things be get serious. There's too much grand hilarity and exciting adventure out there...for all of us.

Yes, Miss Heavenly Pussypants and her convicted lesbian felons, Rat Jacket and Big Mammaries will be at Marlayna Lacie's WIGFEST WEST '95.

Yours truly has scripted a crazy, dizzy drag-skit titled "Out on Highway

Sixty-Nine." The promiscuous Miss Pussypants gets caught with her new lover by escaped convict Big Mammaries at the Muff Motel...out on Highway 69.

It's only a very small part of the entertainment in store for you at WIGFEST WEST '95, Saturday night August 5, at the Queen Mary Show Lounge, Studio City, deep in the Valley. You wanna laugh Baby? We'll put water between your legs!

Did you catch Annie Lennox on the Letterman show from London? The two back-up singers wore Louise Brooks-type black wigs, Mickey Mouse ears and yes, they were drag queens. Good job girls! So come along with me...put on some extra lip gloss Darling...who knows, you may just need it before the sun comes up! Don't forget to laugh...

maybe somewhere out there

Tennessee is chuckling, too.

Love, Sin and Gin...

GENDER expression

Another great place for a beauty pageant is in Hawaii, on the Island of Oahu. There are a number of large pageants being held through out the year. The major pageant is the Universal Show Queen, which is normally held in the ballroom at the Ilikai Hotel. The pageant is usually held in mid March and normally draws a crowd of eighteen hundred to two thousand paid spectators. Usually another five hundred people sit around the patio area and watch all the people going to the pageant. There are usually twelve to sixteen contestants from around the country. The Universal Show Queen Pageant is known for it's extravagant costumes and talent of the contestants who enter the pageant.

People begin to enter the ballroom about 7:30 p.m. on a Saturday night and those who are attending are dressed to kill. It's like a pageant in a pageant, but over all, it is a lot of fun. One of the things I really enjoyed was the people sitting around on the patios. They were all interested in what was going on and all the gowns and costumes that were being worn by the audience. I spent some time talking to some of the people and really enjoyed myself. The competition was really tough, everyone puts on a good show and they normally have some excellent entertainers who come to help add to the show.

Besides having so many other things you can do in Hawaii there is also a good size community of Trans-Gendered people, and a number of bars who are very accepting of people from the Trans-Gendered community. The people there are very friendly. While I was there for the last pageant I was invited to a beach party at Queen Surf, which was a lot of fun. A lot of the people who came over for the pageant and several of the contestants showed up Sunday afternoon. We roasted hot dogs, played volleyball, and went for a swim.

It was really a great afternoon and that evening we went out to several of the local bars to dance and see the show. Later in the week they had a luau for all the contestants who come over to the Island for the pageant. The luau was on the north end of the Island and they had all the different Hawaiian foods. That evening they built a fire and played the yulacali and the hula and danced. We all had a lot of fun and made a lot of new friends.

That year there were two other pageants going on at the same time. The Boa Ark Ball, which is the Hawaiian preliminary for the Miss Continental Pageant and another preliminary pageant for the Galaxy Pageant normally held in the fall. Another pageant that is normally held in early summer is Island Goddess, which is another one of the big pageants that usually has a large spectator participation, and of course all the girls party at the clubs and go to the beach.

I have been very fortunate to be able to travel to Hawaii several times a year and have attended several pageants and really had some funny experiences. I am a Cross-Dresser, I normally travel as a male and change when I get where I'm going.

A couple experiences that I had when I was there for a couple of weeks were when I had went out several nights during the week as a guy and some of the girls who we were with didn't know I was a cross-dresser. When my friend said you should see what she is going to wear to the pageant, they about fell out of their chairs. Then I had flown in for the weekend that the Island Goddess was being held and I was in line in my flight fatigues. There were two girls in line in front of me and I asked them if they were there for the pageant, they couldn't figure out how I knew until I came down dressed later on.

Nearly every month of the year you can find a preliminary pageant going on at one of the local bars to qualify contestants for the major pageants. So if you're plans are to travel to Hawaii, check out and see if anything is going on when you are going to be there. One place to check with is the Hawaiian Gender Out Reach, they can usually tell you when pageants are going on at local bars that are pretty good to go too.

Hawaii can be a really fun place to party and if you need to get in with the group of the community, then you have it made. Getting in touch with someone who is a member of the Out Reach can be really helpful and they can show you around. Hopefully you will have as much fun as I did and make a lot of new friends. From the one trip I made to the Islands I have met people from San Diego, Chicago, New York, and Las Vegas. Now when I visit one of those places I have someone to go out and have fun with.

So have fun when you're on vacation, let go, get dressed up, and have some fun. If I can be of any help answering questions or getting you information be sure to drop me a line.

I.F.G.E CONVENTION

This is Dallas Denny sharing information with a new comer on gender issues. Dallas is the chair person for group called A.G.E.I.S. This group is based in Atlanta.

This is Lea, she is a first time convention attendee. This was her first professional make over, I think her smile says it all. Lea was at the convention with her very supportive wife. If you are having problems with your wife understanding or accepting your crossing dressing, I highly recommend the two of you attending a convention. There are numerous seminars for wives and significant others.

Here are two ladies waiting to go the dinner theater. This is Lisa from the Bay Area, and who else but Melissa. Although there is a lot of work and education being done at these conventions, the nights are for partying.

These conventions are a great way to meet new sisters, as well as finding out who you are. They are also a real learning tool in how to put together the right look for the right occasion. The more you are able to attend these conventions, the more confidence and poise you will achieve. I hope you enjoyed the new format. Let us know if you would like more of the some in the future. Also be sure and write us with any make up problems you might be having. This convention was the I.F.G.E. convention, and it was held in Atlanta GA, March 15-19, 1995.

This is Stacy. She runs the book store for an organization called I.F.G.E. This stands for International Foundation for Gender Education. This organization has the largest number of books and material available on gender issues.

James Green accepting his Trinity Award for his many contributions to keep further understanding about female to male Trans-Sexuals.

This is Holly, one of the local lovelies playing hostess for one of the many cocktail parties. As you can see, these conventions give the ladies the chance to dress to the nines. Pretty ladies and beautiful dresses were everywhere.

These people are being honored for their numerous contributions to the gender community. These awards are called the Trinity Awards. The awards itself is a joining of a male and female bond. This is to signify the male and female spirit which we all share.

This is Melissa Foster, she is board member of I.F.G.E. and very active in the community. This is why you see her picture so often. She is flanked by James Green and Troy? James and Troy are part of the F to M community and are two of the reasons why it is growing larger at every convention.

FANTASY Fashion Fetish NIGHT

Thanks to all who attended the Big Party.

Blond having fun.

Happy Anniversary was the cheer for this month's On the Scene Night. The Queen Mary, TV Epic, Marlayna, and Melisa thank everyone for their heartfelt congratulations on the last six years of events we have coordinated together. This event was one of the biggest as of yet and the fun has not stopped. The staff at the Queen Mary decorated the place in flowers and balloons with streamers for the party. I wore a simple but elegant cocktail dress of black velvet with a low cut back and a deep bodice.

I added my black high heeled pumps and most expensive jewelry of gold and diamonds to the ensemble. We shared the partying with many guests until closing. The buffet, the decorations, the haute couture, all made for an evening of elegance and revelry I won't forget. I am sure if you were there you will have good memories of the party as well. I would never minimize anyone's efforts in making On the Scene Night a success, so to summarize the people involved, I want to thank all who have helped make the event a success. For your effort and participation you are greatly appreciated. Thank you to the many people who have contributed to the parties from the bottom of my heart. Last month I wrote of telling that special someone in your life about your transgendered behavior. I hope that the insight was helpful. I will share with you in this article how I personally approached the issue. I had lived in the Los Angeles area for only a few months when I met a girl whom I fell in love with. I wanted to be honest to her, so before I told her of my affections, I told her about myself. She seemed open to the idea so we went about our relationship without any inhibitions on my part. I had a plan of action to telling my lover and family about my behavior. Instead of leaping blindly into it, I slowly opened the discussion about identities. What makes us who we are or more purposefully who I am. I had a very good idea about what makes me tick so it was easy to be specific and confident in my discussion. I felt no shame or guilt, but was proud of who I am. The confidence and pride were felt by my friends and family. They were by my side and supported me entirely. My love was another story though. She kept much of her true feelings in and remained inhibited. I at many times thought she was fine, but she would not open up to me. I was married to her for almost eight years. I was the housewife for the most part and she was the wage earner. After many years of unhappiness and abuses from my partner I left her. This taught me that honesty is a two way street. I was traveling down this avenue but my lover wasn't. We were going in different directions. I realized this. It was very painful because I truly loved this person I was married to. The benefits of divulging myself were that my family and friends are still there. So were the rewards and consequences of my truth to all. The biggest reward of all that is greater than the sacrifice was that I have integrity and I like myself.

TIRED OF LOSING PICTURES?

WE HAVE A SOLUTION!

introducing

personal Stationery

We know how frustrating it can be to lose a picture by sending it to an irresponsible person or couple who neglect to return it. That's why Pathway Communications is now offering a special service for our readers which will safeguard your pictures from loss, and it's as easy as 1, 2, 3!

Here's how it works:

You mail us your picture(s) along with the attached order form, making sure to select the stationery and paper style you want. Remember: send high quality photos that are in focus and have good contrast and tone. The better your picture, the better your stationery.

We scan your picture(s) into a computerized format and convert them to gray-scale pictures, just like those you see in this magazine. We then place the images onto stationery that you can write on and mail to others.

Then we mail back your original picture(s) and stationery, with a complete black and white reproduction of your picture(s) on each and every one, along with any requested text information (such as a greeting, P.O. Box and/or a phone number). That's all there is to it!

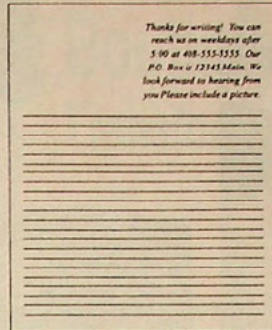

personal stationery comes in a variety of layout styles. Please select the design that best suits your needs, and enter the code in the order form below. Include any pre-written text on a separate sheet of paper. Paper Colors available: Ivory, Teal, Red, Lt. Blue, Yellow, Pink, Green Special (+$3.50): Parchment, Marble

There is nothing like a premiere of a new movie to get the party wagons a rolling in Tinsletown. Two nights in a row, drag queens and divas of many splendid colors flow in from all over the world to party. Starting off the festivities was a invitation only cast party held at the new Tommy Tangs Thai eatery located at 7313 Melrose. The waiters at Tommy s are looking super sexy. Every Tuesday is DRAH night as owner Sandi Tang decided to liven up the place. The following night is a dress to impress premiere held at the Directors Guild on Sunset. A media circus but a fun one and again the celebrities are making the area crowded with limos. A great time for all who attended and Katie and I had a memorable evening.
