Prez Stuff by Denise Peters

Clothes-Clothes every where but nothing to wear.

Last month's meeting looked as though we had invaded a warehouse clearance sale for Penney's or was it Victoria's Secret??? Nevertheless, it seemed everyone enjoyed the program and I have never seen so many clothes at a meeting before.

Music plays on.....

On April 24th, the couples group met at Linda and Jim's. A new first was achieved there, when 10 couples showed up. Our hosts were hard put to find enough chairs for all. A box of questions were passed around the room, Hot Potato style, and when the music stopped, the "lucky" holder choose one and had to answer it. Well, there were a lot of interesting questions and some really revealing answers.

Kudos

The artwork for the Spring Fling, in the adjacent column, was designed by none other than Amanda Richards. I wonder if she wears a baret?

May Program Notes

For May, I have good news, and great news! The good news is that Abby has nothing to do with your program this month. The great news is that Amanda does!!! May is Spring Fling month. It's the prom you always wanted to go to, but never did. So get out that party outfit, dust off your dancing pumps, and strut your stuff at the Chi-Chapter Spring Fling. Our musical entertainment is provided by our most talented sister, Amanda, and her friend Angela. Following their presentation we'll have dancing till dawn, or whenever. If you haven't got your tickets yet, be sure and call in.

We welcome the following new members; Geri, Kari & ga, Maureen, and Elaine.

Amanda Lynn's Notes

Last evening (4/26) I received an e-mail announcing "The Gender Fair, An Affair to Regender" (an interactive forum on gender identity and gender expression issues). It took place on May 1st at the Egan Urban Center in downtown Chicago.

Now I'm not an activist or in-your-face type of person, but I do take pride in doing outreach and personally educating people about all facets of gender whenever I get a window of opportunity to do so. I attended an event like the Gender Fair last year and found it very interesting and fruitful for my understanding of the many variants on the gender continuum. There were a few other Tri-Ess members in attendance. Because of a wedding in the family, I could not attend this year's event.

One thing that stood out in my mind was the list of groups that co-sponsored the event. Tri-Ess was excluded. I repeat. Tri-Ess was NOT on the list. One of the largest chapters of this national network of crossdressers was NOT represented! Yet, are we not concerned with gender identity and gender expression issues?

I wondered about why we were not on the list. What do YOU think the reason is and are you willing to do something about it? Let's talk.

Here's the list..

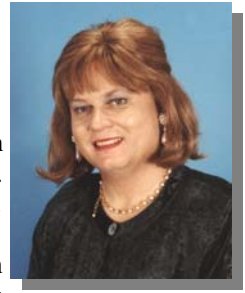

Co-Sponsored by: Chicago Gender Society, Chicagoland Bisexual Network, Chicago Radical Faeries, Church of the Open Door, First Unitarian Society of Chicago, FORGE, Generation Q, Good Shepherd Parish MCC, Horizons Community Services, Howard Brown Health Center, Illinois Federation for Human Rights, It's Time, Illinois, LesBiGay Radio/AM1240, New Health Foundation, Parents and Friends of the Transgendered Community, Queer Nation, United Methodist Church, Resurrection MCC, TransGenesis, Transsexual Menace, Richard M. Daley, Mayor, Clarence N. Wood, Chairperson CCHR, Mary F. Morten, Director/Liaison. ACGLI, Laura Rissover, Chair ACGLI.

...but not Chi-Chapter of Tri-Ess.

Spring Fling Update: Angela and I have been practicing diligently for the Spring Fling concert, and have prepared a 'Boston Pops' type program of varied works sure to delight all you ladies. We are two professional musicians who perform together on a weekly basis and enjoy inspiring audiences with some wild tactics on a couple of amazing synthesizers. You won't believe your ears. Be sure you have your reservation in.

ABBY'S ROAD

Well girls, its time for another chapter in the adventures I call "ABBY'S ROAD". This past month has been quite memorable.

Abby has recently started venturing out in public when she's away from home. It has been a long, slow, tentative, and scary process. The thing that worries me most is running into someone I know, who might recognize me. As many of you know, Terri and I live in a small rural town in Illinois of about 3000 people, so Abby needs to be far away when she ventures out.

Last month, Terri had to have some tests done at a hospital in Chicago. It was going to be an overnight trip for her. She suggested that if I would take a day off from work and come in with her, after her tests were over Abby and Terri could have a "girls day in the city" together. (WOW!! IS THIS GIRL TERRIFIC OR WHAT?) Lets see now. 200 miles from home and a city of six million people. That should work just fine.

It was a beautiful day, sunny and 70 degrees. We planned shopping, sightseeing, and to top it off we would meet Shelley and Linda for dinner at a Chicago Jazz club. Terri was done at the hospital by 10:00 am, and by 11:00 am the girls were strolling down Michigan Avenue. I wore a navy and white print top and skirt, a navy blazer, and low heel pumps. As we crossed the bridge over the Chicago River, we were whistled at by a guy enjoying the scenery. We flashed our best smiles back and as we passes he volunteered that he always whistles at the prettiest ladies. Way to go, girl!!

Terri hadn't eaten all day because of her tests, so she wanted to get some lunch. She picked out this little Mexican place on the north edge of the loop. It was just before noon, and the downtown lunch rush was about to commence. The restaurant was one of these that squeezes as many tables in as possible, and it filled up quickly. Lunch went fine, and if anyone read me, they didn't say anything. Terri decided she needed to use the ladies room, and asked me if I would take care of the bill with the waitress while she was gone. I said sure. As soon as Terri stood up I heard a loud feminine voice come over my shoulder shouting "Terri, what are you doing here?"

Terri looked past my shoulder, and seeing the person who shouted at her, went "Hi! What a surprise!" and proceeded past me to visit with whomever this was. I, on the other hand, had turned into a popsicle. I couldn't move a muscle. I was petrified. As I sat there waiting for all hell to break loose, I contemplated the possibilities. Door number one would be one of our close friends from back home, in which case I was in big trouble. Door number two would be an old friend of Terri's from long ago whom I wouldn't know. I couldn't come up with a door number three.

It seemed like I sat there forever waiting to see which door was going to greet me. I couldn't turn around, couldn't get up, couldn't do anything. Finally, Terri leaned into me and whispered "Don't turn around. F_____ R_____ is sitting at the table right behind you. Try to get out quietly after you pay the bill. I have to go to the ladies room" Door number one. In spades!!

F_____ R_____ was one of our close friends from our theater company back home. She was sitting between me and the exit, and I was on my own. Finally the waitress returned with my change, and I steeled myself to make the exit. My plan was to walk over to the bar area on the other side of the restaurant before turning to the door. My big fear was that I would trip in my heels and cause a big commotion, and I never trip in heels. Well, I made it safely out and waited for Terri outside. After she came out we hustled on down to Marshall Fields and Carsons to lose ourselves in the crowds. Then we were finally able to laugh about it. Shelley and Linda enjoyed hearing about it later that evening.

We have now developed some contingency plans in case we have similar adventures in the future. Did this set me back on public excursions? Nope. When we came in for the April Tri-Ess meeting, we spent some time shopping in Woodfield Mall before coming to the hotel. I still haven't used the dressing rooms to try anything on yet, but that's my goal for my next excursion out. I'll let you know how it turns out. ABBY

Winners

CGS recently held their officer elections, Olivia, IL-2849, was re-elected President and Sherry, IL-4352, was elected officer at large. Dorothy Powers is the new Secretary but will continue as editor of the Primrose.

Busy

Our own Sara is VERY busy, she has been doing the printing of this rag (Tribune) since January and recently began as printer for the CGS Primrose. I now have the duty to persuade her to print up the next Tri-Ess membership supplement, only 1600 copies.....Please send Sara a card once in a while.....

WEB stuff....

If you haven't yet, please check out Pamela A's web site. She has the most up to date listing of places and things happening in the Chicago area. You can find here at <http://members.aol.com/pamelatv/> or just go to the member link section of the CHI home page.

Speaking..

Of the web, we just completed our first month of sending the newsletter out by e-mail. Several groups have signed on as well as one member so far.

P.A.L.S. UNCONDITIONALLY

April 17th P.A.L.S. Meeting

We are excited to have had one newcomer in our group this month. A big WELCOME to Helga!
As usual our P.A.L.S. meeting was a success. Some of us had some major breakthroughs, which will take us down another turn on our journey. Although I thoroughly believe in having fun, P.A.L.S. is there for support above all. If someone has had an emotional month, we encourage him or her to share those experiences. If we vent and process our experiences and feelings instead of bottle them up, we will surely grow and continue forward on our journey. We are there for unconditional love and support and all conversations are kept confidential within P.A.L.S.

A big THANKS to Terri and Abby for their hard work on the Clothing Resale which benefits our S.P.I.C.E fund.
P.A.L.S. Meetings are held every third Saturday of the month at 6:30 PM to 8:00 PM before the Tri-ESS general meeting begins. (Except for May & July)

P.A.L.S. FOOD FOR THOUGHT

THE BEST EXERCISE FOR THE HEART IS REACHING DOWN TO LIFT UP ANOTHER

COUPLES CORNER

The April 24th Couples meeting was held at Jim & Linda's house. We had a great turnout of 20 people, which included four newcomer couples. A big WELCOME to Denise & Lloyd, Helga & Mike, Joan & Bob, and Judy & Bob! Needless to say we scrounged up every chair including the lawn chairs. Our theme was Communication and we all played a game called Hot Questions. It is played like Hot Potato except a basket of questions is passed while music is playing. The person who is holding the basket at the time the music stops must pick a question and answer it. Some of the questions made us laugh a lot and some made us think a lot. Afterward we had a great time munching and mingling.
The Couples Meetings are held every fourth Saturday of the month at 7:00PM. A different couple volunteers their home for the evening. Our next meeting will be May 22nd at Kim and Denise's house.

LET'S TALK OUTREACH

Recently Shelley, Lori and I were invited to present an outreach program at Elgin Community College by Barbra Getz to her Sociology class. There were about 20-25 students in the class and of course Shelley and I went in hoping we would have a receptive and kind group facing us. But on our car ride to the college we both set aside our nervousness and decided to just be ourselves. We both believed that if we spoke from our hearts and accepted people for however they chose to process this information we would pass on, then surely we had to succeed.

When we arrived, Barbra introduced us to the class and Lori began a synopsis of her transgender role and her feelings. She also gave the group some background on the transgender spectrum and how each cross-dresser is traveling his/her journey at a different place on that spectrum. Shelley took her turn explaining her experience of her transgender role and her marriage. And finally I talked about my experience as a spouse of a cross-dresser.
After each of us finished speaking, the floor was open for questions from the class. Barbra had asked each student to prepare three questions to ask us. Within a two-hour period, we had experienced a very open and relaxed group asking a wide variety of questions. Some were serious and some made us laugh. Some of the students came up to us to talk after the question period and gave us some very positive feedback. They agreed with me that it takes a lot of courage to "come out" as a cross-dresser and present this expression of Self to a non-accepting society. Barbra quoted a student as saying, "I was apprehensive at first sight of the cross-dressers, but once I asked them questions and heard them speak I felt comfortable and saw past what they were wearing." The students were also impressed with my presence at the outreach from spouses' point of view. They felt I brought a human quality to the forum that helped them connect with the transgender issues.

I would like to see more spouses and significant others get involved with the outreach programs at the colleges. These college students are the people to shape our society through the knowledge and understanding we provide. Most people have negative feelings because of ignorance about the transgender community. They can't see past the external appearance into the heart and soul of these real people who want only to express themselves as God created them. Unconditional love and acceptance means seeing past the outer appearance which sometimes seems very different and strange. Accepting people as they are may mean society might have to change or even admit they may need to be more open minded. Admit that we are all the same and no one is better than another, just created a little differently. Can you imagine what the world would be like if everyone loved each other unconditionally? Would the student gunmen in Colorado have become so enraged with anger if their peers accepted them unconditionally? Where does prejudice and hatred end and love begin? From within each and every one of us!
