Scope and Contents of the Materials

Bib#4026124

The Texas A&M University Zine Collection is a generalized, "floating" collection of zines tied to a set of particular collecting criteria -

Zines created by Texans, Southwesterners or other Southerners and/or concern Texas, the Southwest and the South; zines created by minorities across Texas, the Southwest or the South; zines created by TAMU students or former students; and Artzines concerned with printing and/or designed as print art objects.

The collection has "Texas A&M University" in the title to reflect the collecting criterion of zines created by TAMU students or former students. More importantly, however, the inclusion of the TAMU name in the collection title reinforces the collection's connection to the university as well as its major purpose - to help make TAMU a center for the preservation of regional alternative voices.
